Scrum.org Professional Scrum Product Owner

About this course

The Professional Scrum Product Owner™ (PSPO) is a cutting-edge, two-day course for Product Owners, Agile product managers and anyone responsible for a software product's success in the market.

The breadth of the product owner's responsibilities in delivering a successful product will become clearer, and metrics are identified to track the creation of value and the successful delivery of the product to the marketplace. In this course, students will develop and solidify their knowledge of being a product owner through instruction, real-life cases and discussion with teams of classmates.

Who should attend

The PSPO course may be valuable to those involved with the software development of the Scrum framework, but it has been specifically designed for those accountable for maximizing the value of delivered products and services, including:

- Product managers and Scrum product owners responsible for the delivery of a product
- IT development managers responsible for a line of business or internal company system
- Strategy managers responsible for the overarching direction of a product or product family

Prerequisites

Attendees will benefit the most from this course if they:

- Have studied the Scrum Guide (required)
- Have taken the Scrum Open (free online assessment)
- Have taken the Professional Scrum Foundations course
- Have experience on or exposure to a Scrum team
- Possess a general understanding of requirements and requirements decomposition
- Have been on or closely involved with a project that builds or enhances a product
